Stamp Duty and Registration Charges in Rajasthan

In Rajasthan the stamp duty on a property purchase is 6 percent of the registered value for a male buyer and 5 percent for a female buyer. The registration charge is 1 percent extra. A joint purchase by husband and wife is charged at 5.5 percent. For a 62 lakh flat registered in a male buyer's name the stamp duty is 3 lakh 72 thousand rupees and the registration charge is 62 thousand rupees. Stamp duty is paid on the higher of the agreement value and the government circle rate.

GST on Property Purchase

GST applies only when you buy an under construction property from a builder. The rate is 5 percent without input tax credit, and 1 percent for an affordable house priced under 45 lakh. A ready to move flat that already has a completion certificate attracts no GST at all. A resale flat and a plot of land also attract no GST. This is why a ready to move flat often works out cheaper than an under construction one at the same price.

Documents Required for Registry

For the registry you need the sale deed, the patta or title deed, the approved building plan, the latest property tax receipt, a no objection certificate from the society, the completion certificate for a new building, PAN and Aadhaar of both buyer and seller, and two passport size photographs. An encumbrance certificate for the last thirteen years proves that the property has no loan or legal dispute on it.

Patta, Khatedari and Land Title

A patta is the government document that proves ownership of a plot and is issued by the JDA, the municipal corporation or the gram panchayat. Khatedari land is agricultural land and it must be converted to residential use before a house can be built on it. Never buy a plot that has only khatedari rights and no patta. A JDA approved patta is the safest for a home loan because most banks refuse to fund khatedari land.

RERA Registration and Buyer Protection

Every project with more than eight units or over 500 square metres must be registered with Rajasthan RERA. Ask the builder for the RERA registration number and check it on the official RERA website before booking. A RERA registered builder cannot change the approved plan without the buyer's consent and must pay interest if possession is delayed. You can file a complaint with RERA for a delay or a false promise.

Brokerage, Maintenance and Hidden Charges

The broker usually charges 1 percent of the property price from the buyer. A builder also charges costs that are not in the advertised price. These are the parking charge of 2 to 5 lakh, a club membership charge, an electricity and water connection charge, and an advance maintenance deposit of one or two years. Monthly maintenance in a Jaipur society is around 2 to 3 rupees per square foot.

Total Cost of Buying a 62 Lakh Flat

Here is the full cost of buying the 62 lakh flat in Mansarovar. The down payment of 20 percent is 12 lakh 40 thousand rupees. The stamp duty at 6 percent is 3 lakh 72 thousand rupees. The registration charge at 1 percent is 62 thousand rupees. The brokerage at 1 percent is 62 thousand rupees. So the total upfront money you need is about 17 lakh 36 thousand rupees. The remaining 49 lakh 60 thousand comes as a home loan and the EMI at 9 percent for 20 years is about 44,600 rupees per month.
